

The Refugee Appeal Division (RAD)

How to Submit an Appeal

Today you will Learn

- What is the RAD?
- What is an appeal to the RAD?
- Who are the participants in the appeal?
- What are the 2 steps in an appeal?

What is the RAD?

- The Refugee Appeal Division (RAD) is the tribunal to which most (there are some exceptions) refugee claimants can appeal if the Refugee Protection Division (RPD) rejects their claim for refugee protection;
- The RAD and the RPD are separate divisions of the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada (IRB); the RAD is independent of the RPD.

What is an Appeal to the RAD?

- Statutory Right to Appeal – Immigration and Refugee Protection Act, Section 110(1)
- An Appeal can be made to show errors in the decision made by the Refugee Protection Division. (But it is not a second opportunity to make a claim.)
- An Appeal can result in one of three decisions.

Who are the Participants in the Appeal?

Appellant

- Refugee claimant(s) who wishes to appeal a negative decision from the RPD.
- In some cases, the Minister may appeal a positive RPD decision. Thus, the Minister is the Appellant.

Respondent

- The Minister decides to respond to a claimant's appeal, the Minister is referred to as the Respondent.
- When the Minister is the Appellant, the claimant becomes the Respondent.
In most cases, the Minister does not participate in RAD proceedings.

RAD Member (Panel / Decision Maker)

- Reviews the arguments and decides the appeal.

What are the Steps in an Appeal ?

- Step 1: Submit a Notice of Appeal Form
- Step 2: Submit an Appellant's Record

A thumbnail image of a 'Notice of Appeal Form' from the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada. The form is a grid-based document with various sections for providing personal information, details of the appeal, and a declaration. It includes fields for name, address, and dates, as well as a section for the appellant's signature and date.

Step 1: Filing a Notice of Appeal

- Complete (fill in) the Notice of Appeal form.
(Include the names of all the appellants.)

- File (submit) the Notice of Appeal form:
 - Submit the completed Notice of Appeal by mail, e-post, courier, fax, portal or email.

 - Submit the Notice of Appeal within 15 days from the date you receive (in hand) the written RPD Reasons and Decision.

Subject: Acknowledgement of receipt of your notice of appeal

The Refugee Appeal Division (RAD) has received your notice of appeal on October 23, 2020.

Refugee Appeal Division file number

Please include your RAD file number whenever you contact the RAD. All of your communications regarding your file must be made to this RAD registry office located at the address provided above.

Perfecting your appeal

Your appellant's record must be received by the RAD within 45 days after the day on which you received the written reasons for the Refugee Protection Division's (RPD) decision you are appealing. As the RPD written reasons are considered to be received 7 days after the day on which they were mailed to you, your appellant's record must be received by the RAD on Month Day Year. You must provide two copies of your appellant's record if submitting by paper, or one copy only if you send it electronically. The RAD will provide the appellant's record to the Minister.

The RAD also removes (waives) the requirement in the rules for signatures on documents and RAD forms submitted in support of an appeal.

For more information, please refer to the Practice Notice extending time limit for perfecting an appeal (<https://irb-cisr.gc.ca/en/legal-policy/procedures/Pages/practice-notice-extending-time-perfecting-appeal.aspx>).

If either your appellant's record OR an application for an extension of time to perfect the appeal is not provided to the RAD, your appeal may be dismissed. Please consult the appellant's record form and instructions on the website of the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada (IRB).

Step 2: Filing an Appellant's Record

File (submit) the Appellant's Record:

- Submit the Appellant's Record by mail, e-post, courier, fax (fax limit: less than 20 pages), portal or email;
- Submit the Appellant's Record no later than 45 calendar days after you have received (in hand) the RPD Reasons and Decision.

Note: For assistance with Filing the Appellant's Record register with FCJ to attend a detailed RAD Information Session.

Process Flow (Appellant's Record)

After filing the Appellant's Record

- Once you have filed the Appellant's Record, your appeal will be considered by a Member of the Refugee Appeal Division.
- Because there are many cases before the RAD, this can take many months and at times more than a year.
- Most RAD cases do not involve a hearing.
- When a Member has considered your appeal, a decision will be sent to you.

The RAD decision

111 (1) After considering the appeal, the RAD shall make one of the following decisions:

- (a) confirm the determination of the RPD;
- (b) Set aside the determination and substitute a determination...
- (c) Refer the matter to RPD for re-determination...

If you require assistance with your RAD appeal

OPTIONS:

- Legal counsel (lawyer or notary)
- Consultant who is a member of the Immigration Consultants of Canada Regulatory Council (ICCRC)
- Representative (without a fee)
- You may be eligible for provincial legal aid. The list of legal aid offices is found on the IRB's website in both the Appellant's Kit : <http://www.irb-cisr.gc.ca/Eng/RefApp/Pages/RefAppKitTro.aspx>
and
Respondent's Kit : <http://www.irb-cisr.gc.ca/Eng/RefApp/Pages/ResIntKitTro.aspx>

IRB resources at your disposal

- If you are appealing your RPD decision to the RAD, please refer to the Appellant's Guide found on the IRB website
